
MILITARY MEDICINE RESEARCH AND STUDY CENTRE

- The Military Medicine Research and Study Centre (MMRSC) was created in 2017 to implement activities in the humanities and medical fields and to provide a contribution to national security and defence on behalf of RSU.

MMRSC conducts research, offers study courses and courses in continuing education, and coordinates cooperation with national and international scientific organisations in the field of military medicine.

MMRSC researchers represent Latvian interests on the Human Factors and Medicine Panel which is part of the Science and Technology Organization (STO) at NATO, as well as in several other scientific projects organised by the...
